

Jimmy Harrell Recognition for 25 years of Service to the City of Panama City

Jimmy Harrell started his career serving the citizens of Panama City in January 1997. Jimmy came from a family that honored the importance of public service and has dedicated his career to continuing that tradition. He proudly displays photos of his father, Johnny Harrell, who taught him the importance of serving others as the County's first black deputy sheriff where he served for 34 years.

Jimmy's passion for others is apparent in his service with the United States Army, as a deacon for his church in Macedonia, and his ongoing commitment to the Underground Utilities team. His knowledge as a Senior Utilities Service Worker have been recognized by citizens in multiple letters of appreciation over his years with the City. Jimmy's willingness to serve every day, knowledge of our City's infrastructure and pleasant citizen focused demeanor is an asset to our City.

Thank you Jimmy for your continued service to the Citizens of Panama City and we look forward to many more years.
